The papers generally are forced by advancing prices for newsprint to raise their subscription rates. The Kentuckian will retain its present rates, but all papers must be paid for. If yours is stopped after notice has been given of the time of expiration, it is because we cannot afford to send it free, and in the face of a government order to stop it when it is out. If you are scarce of money, you can pay any part of a year and keep it going at the annual rate. Look at the date on your paper. This may be the last one you will get until you renew.

Harry McIntosh, son of Mrs. S. C. McIntosh, writes that he has arrived safely overseas.

Frank Hulse, son of Rev. T. L. Hulse, who recently volunteered for Marine service, went to Evansville yesterday for examination.

Wesley Dalton has been commissioned second lieutenant. This information came in a cablegram yesterday to Mrs. Cora Manson, his mother. Lieut. Dalton has seen in France for several weeks.

A letter from Clintonville, Wis., says:

Capt. B. S. Winfree, commander of Co. D, 113 Ammunition Train, at Clintonville, Wis., was besieged with applications for membership by several young men who were desirous of getting into fighting troops without waiting for the draft. The captain made an effort to swell his ranks by adding some of the men of the P. W. D. truck factory but the local board headed off the deal. One young man said he'd go and fight for the love of being a member of such a splendid organization. Capt. Winfree and company certainly made a hit with the people of Clintonville and they can rest assured that they will be given a hearty welcome when they return.

WEDGE AGAIN NARROWED

SEIZE WIRES ON JULY 31

WILSON WILL TAKE OVER TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE LINES FOR DURATION OF WAR.

Washington, July 24.—Acting under the authority recently conferred by congress, President Wilson has issued a proclamation taking all telephone and telegraph lines under government operation and control at midnight, Wednesday, July 31. Although congress empowered him to do so, the president did not include wireless systems, because the navy already is in control of them; and he also did not include ocean cables, presumably because contracts the cable companies have with foreign governments on whose shores they land contain clauses respecting government operation which raised involved questions.

The navy already is in practical control of the cables through censorship.

The president's proclamation placed administration of the wire systems with Postmaster General Burleson, and provided that, until otherwise decided, the present management and employees will continue. Present financial arrangements also will continue with the approval of the postmaster general.

In a statement accompanying the president's proclamation, Postmaster General Burleson announced to the country that his policy would be one of the least possible interference with the wire communication systems consistent with the interests and needs of the government.

Press wire service, Mr. Burleson said, would be interfered with only to improve its facilities, and farmers' telephones would be interfered with only to facilitate their connection with other lines.

No general policy has been decided upon, the postmaster general announced, and public notice will be given of any plans to change present arrangements.

Pledging to the public his best efforts for the most efficient service at the least cost, the postmaster general declared he welcomed the suggestions and co-operation of the men who have built up the system.

Postmaster General Burleson will personally take charge of the administration of the war communications, and will be assisted by a committee of three, composed of John L. Koons, first assistant postmaster general, in subjects of organization and administration; David J. Lewis, former congressman from Maryland, now a member of the tariff commission, on subjects of operation, and William H. Lamar, solicitor for the postoffice department, of matters of finance.

BOARD VISITS STATE HOSPITAL

NEW BOARD OF CONTROL MAKES FIRST VISIT TO STATE INSTITUTIONS.

As announced in yesterday's Kentuckian the new State Board of Control of Charitable Institutions visited Hopkinsville and went direct to the Western State Hospital and inspected that institution. It is reported that they found it in excellent condition and being run on an economical basis as is consistent with good business judgment.

The visit here yesterday followed a visit to the Eddyville penitentiary Tuesday.

The new State Board of Control is composed of five members and a secretary. They are: Judge Henry B. Hines, of Bowling Green, chairman; J. Forrest Butts, of Carrollton; Judge Benton, of Lebanon; Herbert L. Carr, of Mayfield, and Tom Hatcher, of Pikeville. Cote D. Shinnick, of Shelbyville, is the secretary. All were present here yesterday.

The Board will be today to Green-dale where the School of Reform will be inspected by it.

ENGLISH MUNITION WORKERS QUIT

(By Associated Press.)

London, July 24.—A strike of munition workers began at Birmingham at six o'clock this evening, as the day workers finished and when the night shift was due to come on duty, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Birmingham.

PREPARING FOR DEFEAT.

An official dispatch from Switzerland says the German newspapers not only admit that the German offensive has failed, but express fear that Gen. Foch has built up an army of reserves that will enable him to wrest the offensive from the German high command.

The Frankfurter Zeitung declared the plans of Hindenburg on the Aisne-Marne front have failed.

"Something new appears in the strategic situation," says this paper. "Gen. Foch having been able to form an important army of reserves. Foch's attack aims to deal a blow in the back of Hindenburg's army and should it be successful it might compel his army to retreat under most unfavorable conditions."

"Foch's attack threatens the whole of Hindenburg's plans."

The Strassburger Post says the public had in general attached too great hopes to the German offensive at Rheims and asks:

"From where do these troops come that the American transports have brought more quickly than were expected."

The Muenchener Neueste Nachrichten says that America has more than half a million soldiers in France and that the English army has been reconstructed and put into a perfect state. It adds that it will take weeks, perhaps, to take the initiative from Gen. Foch.

The Koelnische Volks-Zeitung says the fact must no longer be hidden that German deserters have made use of their knowledge of the plans of operations to betray their country.

RETURNING STEAMER SUNK

(By Associated Press.)

London, July 24.—The giant White Star liner, Justicia, 32,000 tons has been torpedoed and sunk off the Irish coast last Saturday.

Eleven of her crew of 500 were killed.

Four hundred were landed at an Irish port.

One member of the crew is quoted as saying the liner was sunk after a fight of twenty-four hours with submarines.

She was returning to an American port after delivering a large consignment of American troops.

THE DUBLIN RUINS.

(By Associated Press.)

Dublin, July 24.—The rebuilding of the houses in Dublin ruined during the Easter rebellion of 1916 is proceeding slowly. Not more than twenty-four have so far been rebuilt. In the main street devastated by the fires O'Connell street, only one house has yet been finished. The main cause of the delay has been the greatly increased cost of materials, and the difficulty of producing them, especially timber.

Five years from the date of destruction was estimated as the period necessary for complete renewal, but since so little has been done in the past two years the term is likely to be greatly exceeded. The post office still remains a ruin.

W. R. Brumfield, of Hopkinsville, was here Tuesday the guest of Miss Ethel Nichols.—Madisonville Messenger.

WAGE INCREASE FOR SHOP MEN

RAILROAD MEN TO GET RAISE FROM JANUARY 1—EIGHT HOUR DAY MADE STANDARD.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, July 24.—Wages of railroad shop men were increased today to sixty-eight cents an hour by Director General McAdoo with proportional advances for assistants and miscellaneous classes in mechanical departments. The new rates are retroactive to last January the first. Beginning August 1st the eight-hour day will be recognized as the standard day with Sunday and holiday overtime work paid at the rate of time and a half.

The advances apply flatly to all sections of the country despite local differences prevailing heretofore.

AT H. B. M. A.

EUGENE J. STRAUSS TO TALK TO MERCHANTS FRIDAY NIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK

Eugene J. Strauss, of Louisville, Ky., state representative of the conservation division of the War Industries Board, and state chairman of the Commercial Economy Committee of the Kentucky Council of Defense, has just received instructions from the Conservation Division of the War Industries Board, part of which reads as follows:

"Every retail store is now being requested to adopt the plans already outlined without qualification. No exceptions are being made for any community or for the handling of any commodities. A number of places both large and small have been operating on the plan of one delivery a day over each route. They find it satisfactory and it will, therefore, be necessary for those who have not already made the adjustment to rearrange their service to help meet war conditions."

"The retail delivery service restrictions have been adopted by the merchants in the city of Boston, Providence, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington, New Orleans, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, Denver, Portland, Seattle, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Des Moines, Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis and many other large cities. In all of these the dry goods department and clothing interests are co-operating and in several of them the grocery and food dealers are also making one delivery a day."

Mr. Strauss is making a state-wide tour of the state of Kentucky, in behalf of this campaign, and requests all merchants to adopt the recommendations of the board, and will be in Hopkinsville on Friday, July 26, and will hold a meeting of the business men of the city at 8 o'clock at the H. B. M. A. office.

Each and every merchant handling any line of goods, is requested to attend this meeting and adapt his business to the recommendations of the War Industries Board, which recommendations are as follows:

1.—Make not over one delivery per day over each route.

Limit the privilege of returning merchandise to three days.

3.—Curtail special deliveries in every way.

4.—Require a deposit on C. O. D. purchases.

5.—Discontinue custom of sending goods on approval.

I have been instructed by Mr. Strauss to say that the conservation in delivery is a national movement and must be carried out by all means. Mr. Strauss will be here on our regular meeting night. Every member is requested as well as all merchants operating a delivery system including dry goods and department stores men are requested to be present.

GARNER E. DALTON, Sec.

Mrs. Lillian Gillock will spend today in Madisonville on business connected with Local Exemption and District Appeal Boards.

DENIAL THAT ARMY MEN ARE INVOLVED

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, July 24.—A formal statement from the War Department denounced as entirely unfounded any interferences tending to involve army officers in the accusations of wrong doing in connection with contracts for army raincoats. Department of Justice officials, in announcing the discovery of frauds in connection with raincoat production, indicated that only a few army officers were involved. Most of the inspectors involved in the corruption disclosed by the Department of Justice, in New York, are civilians.

COLLISION

BETWEEN A NASHVILLE AUTO AND A WAGON EAST OF TOWN LAST NIGHT.

At a point on the Russellville pike, near the Kally place, last night, a big Cadillac 8 Car No. 67145, Tennessee, ran into the rear end of a farm wagon belonging to Mark Harrison. A white man and a negro were in the wagon. The white man jumped, but the negro was bruised considerably by the collision. The wagon knocked the mules down, badly hurting one of them. In the car was a man said to be named E. S. Overall and a woman. Mr. Harrison came to town to get a warrant and when the officers arrived the man and woman had disappeared, both were more or less injured. The car was badly wrecked but was towed in and Harrison attached it for damages done to his outfit. The car was not loaded. The car and both of its occupants arrived from Nashville yesterday.

INHERITANCE TAX INCREASED

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, July 24.—A fifty per cent increase in the present graduated inheritance tax on estates up to and including eight million dollar estates, was tentatively agreed upon today by the House Ways and Means Committee. Chairman Claude Kitchin announced that the committee had devoted the entire day to the consideration of estate taxes.

QUIET DAY SAYS BERLIN.

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin via London, July 24.—"Between Soissons and Rheims," says tonight's official report from General Headquarters, "today on the whole front has been quiet. There were partial engagements south of the Oureq and southwest of Rheims."

DAWSON BOY KILLED.

Washington, July 24.—Kentuckians in today's army casualty list are as follows:

Killed in action: SERGE GEORGE E. HUNSAKER, of Dawson Springs.

Severely wounded: PRIVATE MILTON KELLY, Carlisle.

MOPPED UP.

Private Cecil Elkins, of Winchester Ky., in a letter made public declared that he had killed six Germans before being sent to the hospital, where he is now recovering from shell wounds.

Prof. G. C. Koffman left last night for Humboldt, Tenn., to visit his mother and father and Mrs. Koffman. Incidentally, he will use this opportunity to take a much needed rest of a few days and recuperate from a run-down condition had overstrain of the nervous system.

AMERICANS SQUEEZE 'EM SOME MORE

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, July 24.—Highly important gains by the French and American forces on the Aisne-Marne front are reported in the official statement of the war office tonight. In the center of the line an advance of nearly two miles was made. Desperate engagements were fought in the direction of Epieds and Trunty-Epieds which villages the Americans again recaptured from the Germans. To the north of the Epieds the Franco-American line is now beyond Courpail.

WAR SUMMARY.

(By Associated Press.)

Violent German counter attacks and rear guard actions in great strength still fail to serve the German high command as a barrier to the advance of the allied troops on the Soissons-Rheims salient.

True they have aided somewhat in slowing down the fast pace set by the allies at the commencement of the offensive, but nevertheless on three sides of the "U" shaped battle front further important gains have been made.

Driving slowly but surely south of Soissons the American and French troops have pushed their fronts further eastward toward that part of the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry railway still in German hands.

Further south, important penetrations have been made in the direction of Fare En Ternois Germany's great storehouse for supplying her troops to the south. The maximum penetration near Coligny is about ten and a half miles from the point of departure last Thursday.

In the Marne region north of Chateau Thierry, the Americans and French have met fierce resistance from the Germans struggling to hold them while extricating a large number of Germans in danger of capture.

In the region between the Marne and Rheims the British, who took the place of Italians, have made important gains and are now a scant three miles from the Rheims and Fismes railway.

Gauged by war maps the German situation seems constantly becoming more hazardous.

BEGINNING TO BRING RESULTS

The French, British and Americans are still hammering at the flanks of the crown prince's army.

The Germans brought up fresh forces at some points but the situation is reported favorable to the allies.

In spite of determined efforts to stabilize the line on each side of the salient between Soissons and Rheims, the allies appear to be pressing on in vital sectors south of Soissons and near Rheims.

Allied airmen report indications of German retreat as far north as the Vesle river, the Oureq river line being virtually untenable by reason of the allied advance north of that stream.

South of Soissons, the French and Americans are known to have reached the Crise river.

An Amsterdam dispatch reports that the general mobilization of the Russian army began July 7.

From the same source comes the report that Germany has made suggestion for a peace conference to the Spanish government, according to the socialist newspaper, Vorwaerts, of Berlin.

She proposes that there will be no annexations or indemnities in the west but that her peace treaties with Russia first time peace suggestions have been tioned.

If this report is true, this is the first time peace suggestions have been made by Germany through the usual diplomatic channels.

Misses Eddie Barnes and Ruby Davidson and Mrs. C. L. Thomas have returned to their homes in Memphis after a visit of ten days to Miss Estlin Thomas and others of this city.

23 MEN ARE SUMMONED

FIVE LIMITED SERVICE MEN WILL BE SELECTED SUNDAY TO ENTRAIN MONDAY

The Local Board has received an order to send 5 limited and special service men from Christian county to Syracuse, N. Y., where they will be used as guards and members of fire companies. These men are to be of Class one but for reason of some disability are not qualified for general military service.

Twenty-three are called to meet here Sunday morning, July 28 at 10 o'clock at which time the Board will select five who will entrain Monday, July 29 for the place above mentioned. Those who are called are as follows:

Hansel Cardin, John W. Venable, John Orr Metcalfe, Earnest Gray Hicks, Dennis Elliot, Clarence Gilkey, Ned Long Garrett, Noah Ervin Orten, James Frederick Gilkey, James Wesley Brake, John Harvey Cooke, Lackey Steele, Wm. Edgar Brown, Grant Sheppard, Walter Hamby, Sam West, Frank B. Lacy, Jr., William Robert Waldrup, Andy R. Marquess, James Bertie Hester, Wm. Gray Henderson.

RECORD TOBACCO SALE

A tobacco sale of unusual interest and importance was consummated yesterday when Mr. A. T. Wilkins, who lives on the Sam Elgin farm on the Cox Mill road sold his growing crop of ten acres of tobacco for $20 per hundred, round price. The name of the purchaser is withheld by request. This crop has already been topped and bide fair to produce 1500 pounds per acre. Mr. Wilkins will finish the work and deliver the tobacco to the purchaser cured.

So far as is known this is a record sale price of tobacco in this county. Mr. Wilkins came to this county about five years ago from Todd county and has always made a fine record as a tobacco grower. The county needs more farmers like him.

TOBACCO USERS TURNED GRAFTERS.

(By Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, July 24.—The proposed rationing of tobacco in Austria has come to a ludicrous and ignominious end. The number of individual applications from smokers was prodigious. In Vienna alone it is calculated that scores of thousands of non-smokers must have registered as tobacco consumers, presumably for the benefit of friends. The result would have been the apportionment of about one cigarette daily to each applicant. The whole scheme has now been dropped.

LOCAL SHOWERS

CONTINUE TO GIVE RELIEF TO THE THIRSTY SOIL.

Local showers continued yesterday to relieve the drouth conditions, but no general rain has been reported. Evidently a very heavy rain fall in the northeastern part of the county, as streams from that direction brought down a volume of water that put them out of their banks. In the city a good shower fell Tuesday and yesterday there was another one. On the whole the dry spell seems to be ended locally. The showers are still predicted and they will no doubt benefit the whole section in the end.

SOME WEATHER.

Minneapolis, July 24.—A cool rain began falling here today at noon. A dispatch from Edmonton, Canada, states that the temperature there this morning was 28 degrees accompanied by a frost.

Succeeding in rescuing from drowning a 10-year-old boy companion Helen Carter, 16 years old, Chicago lost her own life at Kalamazoo.

You can't always tell by the name. One of the Louisville soldiers on the way to fight the Germans is named Scheweickhardt.

"The Kaiser's cracked troops have been considerably cracked, and his shock troops have been considerably shocked," observes the New York Telegraph.

Fifty thousand negro registrants qualified for general military service were called to the colors Tuesday by Provost Marshal General Crowder. They will entrain between Aug. 1 and 5, and will come from 11 states and the District of Columbia.

The allies continue to tighten their vice-like grip on the German salient around the curving line from Soissons to Rheims. The enemy is frantically bracing himself and is offering the stiffest resistance, which is increasing as he gets his artillery in place.

According to a review of the military situation in L'Homme Libre, the newspaper owned by Premier Clemenceau, the German losses since March 21 are approaching 1,000,000 men. The German killed were extremely numerous and the allied casualties were not half as many as the prisoners alone.

The counterattacks of the Germans continue to be delivered with great violence and with heavy gun and machine gun fire behind them. Where they are forced to give ground, the Germans are leaving numerous machine gun nests in the open to harass their enemies and in making secure the retirements.

The American and French troops fighting south of Soissons have captured four German tanks which were operating against them in conjunction with the German infantry. The allied artillery immediately spotted the tanks and they came into action and quickly put four of them out of commission. Four others retreated.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German staff, is seriously ill and has taken no part in military operations of the present year, according to information from Berlin, says a Central News dispatch from Bern Tuesday. At great personal effort, the message adds, the field marshal was present at a few of the imperial receptions, but went through the functions without speaking. He is quite incapable of writing, the dispatch declares. His death was reported ten days ago, but not confirmed.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 19 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. R. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still, I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid feminine tonic.

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should be used by every woman in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, aches, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

CHOOSING ROAD MATERIALS.

There are many inalienable rights of the individual with which neither friends nor enemies have any call to interfere. He may wed a wife with the brains of a dead haddock and we cannot say nay, nor would we use more than verbal advice to prevent his early demise by eating "slip-on" that famous food of lower New York consisting of a hot foundation of hot mince pie and a wearing service of sizzling Welsh rarebit. But when he takes advantage of the right he possesses in many places to select the kind of pavement laid in front of his property everybody has justification for raising strong objection. The road in for the public use, and even when a considerable part of its improvement is paid by local assessment and community contributes the remainder of the cost and therefore should have a voice in determining its nature. The average taxpayer is not a road expert; the ability to drive an automobile over a slippery pavement without skidding does not make him one, although it may make him a helpful critic. It takes years of study and experience to develop a road expert. He must know not only the method of constructing types of roads under different conditions but also the economical advantages of these different types. Sooner or later he will be employed on every important road undertaking and the beginning of his service should be the outset of the work, so his knowledge may be the guide for the selection of the type of construction. To wait until the contract is let, is to throw away a large part of the help he can give. No engineer can be held responsible for the behavior of roads unless all the steps that must be taken in originating and carrying on the construction have his approval.—American Highway Association.

TO BE WORLD'S FOOD DICTATOR

London, July 24.—Herbert Hoover, American food administrator, is scheduled to become world food dictator, according to reports circulated here.

Hoover came here to confer with the food controllers of Great Britain, France and Italy. It was declared that the conference will take up the question of unified food control and that Hoover undoubtedly would be selected.

"There is no danger of the allies losing the war on account of lack of food; there are great prospects of the largest production of meat and grain this year," Hoover said.

OLLIE JAMES DECLARED ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Baltimore, Md., July 23.—United States Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, who has been a patient at the Johns Hopkins hospital for nearly six months, is recuperating. Rumor had it yesterday that the Senator had left the institution and had gone to Washington during the afternoon and many people called at the hospital to verify the report. At the admitting office today, it was said Senator James' condition still is considered such as not to permit him to leave the hospital.

RUSS DIDN'T GET UKRAINE GRAIN

It Was Burned There by Remnants of the Czech-Slovak Retiring Army.

TOUGH TESTS IN STOMACHS

Food Allowances Reduced, and Starvation in Some Places in Apparent—The Revenge for Oppressive Treatment of Bohemia.

Washington.—Amid the many easy triumphs which enabled the Tenthousanders to take great sections from the map of Russia, like coupons from a bond, Germany and Austria both suffered one frightful disappointment. And the pang was in the weakest part of their political anatomy—the collective stomach of their peoples.

The grain of which the two kaisers expected to plunder the Ukraine was not there—at least there was so little of it that Germany had to lower her head and admit that Austria had to admit a bit more humbly. The supplies had been burned.

These fires were lighted, with a kind of poetic justice, by the remnants of the Czech-Slovak army—deserters from the Russian ranks and inveterate enemies of the Hapsburgs, who had been persecuted into Russian military units under the Kerenky regime and fought so splendidly for Russia during the whole nation collapsed from the ravages of the Bolsheviks.

Fortunate for the Allies.

Until March of this year this Czech-Slovak army had been stationed in the Ukraine—60,000 men in all, and 20,000 more in reserve. Then Bolshevik representatives dissolved their organization and took away their arms, though about 20,000 refused to part with their weapons. They were given promises that they would be allowed to leave Russia for the United States, but, of course, no means of transportation were provided. And so they remained where they were.

It was fortunate for the allies that they did. As soon as they realized that Germany's chief objective in Russia was the Ukrainian grain supply they began a systematic campaign of pillage and burning, in which they were assisted by the peasants themselves, aroused at the thought that the old landowners were to return under German protection.

The evidence that the Czech-Slovak were successful is incontestable. Count Czernin, Austro-Hungarian prime minister until his little exchange of pleasantries with M. Clemenceau, placed the responsibility for the bare Ukrainian cupboard on the shoulders of the Czech-Slovak. German representatives in the Austrian reichsrath repeated the charge in greater details. A Magyar deputy in the Hungarian parliament recently declared that the Czech-Slovak army in Ukraine had burned or taken away everything of value.

Had Their Revenge.

Not only did they destroy what they could, but they fought bitterly to prevent the Tenthousanders taking what was left. Fighting and hankering by their lack of equipment, they stopped to meet the advancing Germans repeatedly in the field. Their last battle, one of those confused struggles which get little space in the cable reports, was fought near Bachmow, halfway between Kiev and Kursk on the road to Moscow. After the fight, though the Czech-Slovak had been armed chiefly with axes, they themselves hurled more than 200 Germans.

Certainly in Ukraine the Czech-Slovak have had their revenge for three centuries of suffocation and oppression in Bohemia. But throughout the war they have launched shattering blows against their Austrian and German enemies and the whole idea of Mitteleuropa.

KEEP LOST MEN'S PHOTOS

Navy Department Is Anxious to Perpetuate Memory of Enlisted Men.

Washington, Secretary Daniels is anxious to preserve in the navy's record photographs of all men of that branch who have lost their lives in the service. He is requesting relatives and friends to send photographs to the recruiting division, bureau of navigation, navy department.

The purpose is to perpetuate the memory of enlisted men. Officers are required to provide photographs and official pictures are taken of all graduates of Annapolis.

As rapidly as photographs of enlisted men are received copies will be made for the records of the navy department and the originals returned to the owners. A photograph of each man will be forwarded by the department to the training station where he began his career in the service. There, a memorial gallery or hero's corner will be formed.

LARGE SCHOOL ESTABLISHED

AT CAMP TAYLOR FOR TRAINING IN ARTILLERY OFFICERS—CIVILIANS ACCEPTED

The War Department has established an Artillery Officers Training School at Camp Taylor, the only one in the United States. There are officers' training schools established in various cantonments throughout the country for the other branches of the army.

The purpose of these various schools is to educate and train an adequate number of men for officers to meet the demands of our constantly and rapidly growing army. Both enlisted men and civilians will be accepted for training in these schools. No civilian is accepted for the Artillery Training school unless he is between 20 years and 35 months and 40 years of age and have a high school education, its equivalent, or better.

In order to be an acceptable applicant for this school one must possess a good working knowledge of algebra, plain geometry, and trigonometry. One educated along civil engineering or mechanical engineering lines is specially desired. Bankers, lawyers, manufacturers and men of prominence from all over the country are applying.

Information concerning these schools may be had by applying to either of the following:

Dr. Frank L. McVey, State University, Lexington, Ky.

Kentucky Military Institute, Louisville, Ky.

M. T. C. A., Lincoln Bank Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

The Artillery School at Camp Taylor will be under the command of Col. Arthur H. Carter and when well under way will turn out more graduates artillery officers weekly than have been graduated annually at West Point Military Academy during the last 100 years. It is, in fact, the only artillery school in this country and probably the largest in the world.

Three Cows and a Lily Equal Five Cows and No Lily

WE are offering you the Lily cream separator because the Lily is the machine we believe in. Its records and tests have convinced us that you can make more money from three cows and a Lily than with five cows and no Lily. That ought to interest you.

We believe in the sturdy, simple, sanitary design; the working of the few closely grouped gears; the splash oiling system that doesn't fail; the one-adjustment feature which we will explain later.

Most of all we believe in the Lily bowl, which gets all the cream out of the milk, down to about one drop in each gallon. That's what counts.

Come in and see this good cream separator.

The Kiss Taboo

By VINCENT G. PERRY

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was a glorious afternoon. Poets and writers with a wide vocabulary of adjectives would have revelled in describing it. Lenora Montrose sank into a comfortable big chair on the veranda and endeavored to enjoy every breath of it. But even enjoying afternoons becomes tiresome, especially to girls of Lenora's type, so she rummaged through the magazine rack by her side in search of something of interest. A magazine fell from the center of the pile and opened at her feet. Lenora gave an exclamation of disapproval as she saw her own face looking at her from the open page.

Would that that article and picture might vanish from her sight, she wished, as she kicked the book closed. It was the most idiotic thing she had ever read. She hadn't thought that at first, but now she felt it nearly every minute of the day. Why couldn't she forget it? She couldn't, no matter how hard she tried, for she had been so proud of it at first; and she had read it so many times it was impressed on her memory for all time to come. The paragraph under her picture was the one that galled her most. The article was practically all about her father, but that one paragraph about herself was the one she hated. She could see it in her mind's eye staring out at her morning, noon and night. "Miss Lenora Montrose, the charming young lady pictured above, only daughter of Doctor Montrose, the well-known health specialist, falls in line with her father's views on the osculatory practice. The young man who weds her will be denied the privilege of kissing his bride, she states emphatically. Doctor Montrose is endeavoring to secure legislation to make kissing illegal."

However she could have made such a statement for publication she could not see now, but she had made it, and there was no denying it. It was barely five months before that she had given the interview to the magazine writer in connection with the article about her father. She was just fresh from school and hadn't thought of anything but books and what a great man her father was. How was she to know that some day she would want to be kissed?

Her change of views all came about because of the new chauffeur. That was another thing to worry about—she was in love with a chauffeur. The very thought of it made her blush. To think of her, the daughter of one of the leading scientists of the day, in love with a chauffeur. Here her sentiment got the best of her pride. Dick Cochran was not a common chauffeur—far from it. He was the very finest chauffeur and the best looking young man she had ever known. He showed refinement and education, too, that bewildered her. Who was Dick and where did he come from? She asked herself a dozen times a day. She was sure there was a romance connected with him and she was going to find out all about it. Perhaps it was better she did not know. Why in the world couldn't he tell her? He would, she was sure, when he asked her to marry him. He had been on the point of asking her on two or three occasions but he hadn't. Why hadn't he? Was it for the same reason that he didn't kiss her? He had been on the point of kissing her on more than two or three occasions and had always stopped himself. She knew that he knew of the magazine article and that was what caused him to refrain. Now she hated that article! All her pent-up feeling was exerted in one kick at the magazine at her feet and it shot from the veranda and lit at the feet of Dick Cochran as he rounded the corner of the house.

"Who's throwing magazines at me?" he called out, as he picked it up. He caught sight of Lenora's flushed face and whistled softly. "What has been disturbing you?" he asked. "I was just thinking of you," she said. "I was the only one who had read that article."

shorten her name. "Not this magazine, I hope?"

"I hate it!" Nora cried. "I hate it and its beastly publisher and interviewer. I hate every word in it."

He ran his fingers through the pages and opened the book at the article that had caused all the disturbance.

"Why here is your picture in it. The surprise in his voice was well feigned.

"You knew it was there all the time!" she exclaimed, impatiently. "It is a horrible picture and that article is idiotic. I can't understand father bothering about such trivial things when there are so many big things in the world to engage his attention."

"Then you do think kissing is all right?" he asked hopefully. "I'd never made such a statement—this article is a lie!"

"I did make that statement. The article was true then, but I've changed my views. I was only a silly girl then."

"This magazine is only three months old," he said, as he looked at the date. "Haven't your change of views been rather sudden?"

"I gave that interview two months before that issue was published. That was before I knew you."

"Haven't your acquaintance had anything to do with your change of mind?" he asked.

"You have never kissed me," she was on the defensive in a minute.

"No. I have never dared. You see, I am only your father's chauffeur."

"That is not what has kept you back. Was it because of the article?" she asked.

Dick seized the veranda railing and stood by her side.

"Before I answer that question will you let me kiss you?" he asked eagerly.

Lenora blushed, but she did not refuse. That was all the answer Dick needed.

"Now," he said, as he sat down beside her. "I can tell you what I have wanted to tell you for the past month. It was not because of that article that I didn't kiss you, but it was because of it that I did. By so doing I have won a wager of five thousand dollars."

"What?" Lenora gasped. "Five thousand dollars for kissing me?"

"Yes," he laughed. "I am not a chauffeur in reality. In fact, I am far from it. I have three chauffeurs of my own."

"I knew it!" Lenora cried, as she jumped to her feet. "You have deceived me. You have been trifling with my affections. Just to win five thousand dollars. How cruel of you!" There was an outburst of tears before she could start for the house.

"Stop, Nora!" Dick interceded, seriously. "I have something more to say."

He had almost to drag her back to the chair. "If you will give me a chance I will set everything right," he pleaded. "I did come to trifle with your affections. Your picture and the article came under discussion at my club, and I got mixed up in an argument about it that resulted in the wager being made. I guaranteed to kiss you, without using force, before three months were over. Tomorrow is the last day. I was beginning to think that I was going to lose out, too. You see, when I made the wager I didn't know on falling in love with you. If it hadn't been for that I would have stolen a kiss long ago, but every time I had half an opportunity I changed my mind. I respected you and what you believed in too much for anything like that. I do love you, Nora, and I want to marry you. Didn't my kiss win that?"

"I have heard it said that kisses say a lot," she replied, "but I haven't had enough of them to quite understand their language."

"Suppose I teach it to you," he suggested, planting a simple lesson on her lips.

Mongolian Horse Racing. Perhaps the prohibition of horse racing would be more deeply resented in Mongolia than in any other country of the world. There it ranks as the favorite pastime of all classes, including the Buddhist clergy, who number fully one third of the total population. The races are never under ten miles, and the Mongolian "derby" is a contest over thirty miles of rough steps.

When C. W. Campbell, of the Chinese consular service, traveled through Mongolia in 1902 he witnessed a race meeting which was presided over by the local aviator, most of the competing ponies being owned by him.

The great races which take place yearly at Urga are held under the direct patronage of the khans of Mongolia, who becomes the owner of all the winners. A horse race with a bishop in the judge's box, a public chiefly clerical, no bookmakers or betting and nominal prizes is a phenomenon unlikely to be seen in this country.—Manchester (England) Guardian.

Waterproof Substitute for Leather. The extremely high price of leather has been a factor in producing a new substitute which is already being used extensively in making workmen's gloves, and other articles, and is proving to be more durable than the split leather used for that purpose, says an article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Unlike leather, this substitute does not harden after being wet, but dries soft and pliable.

Platting They Polity. "Your daughter has a beautiful voice."

"That ain't my daughter singing now. That's the windmill outside squeaking. I told Pa to grease that thing a week ago."

UTILIZE THE GARBAGE

Food Administration Says Big Saving Can Be Made.

Housekeepers Urged to Keep Kitchen and Table Refuse Separately From Other Waste.

Washington.—A campaign for the utilization of garbage has been inaugurated by the United States food administration, which is advising all state administrators to spread garbage utilization propaganda through their territory and urge upon housekeepers the necessity for keeping garbage (kitchen and table refuse) in a separate container from other household refuse.

Figures and statistics issued by the food administration show that in one ton of garbage there is sufficient glycerin to make the explosive charge for 14 75-millimeter shells, enough "fatty acid" to manufacture 75 pounds of soap, fertilizer elements to grow eight bushels of wheat and a score of other valuable materials essential in the manufacture of munitions.

It is also pointed out that 24 cities of over 100,000 are not utilizing garbage, and that the combined population, which is estimated to be over 5,000,000, is wasting 4,400,000 pounds of nitroglycerin and 40,000,000 12-ounce cakes of soap besides 80,000 tons of garbage, which contains fertilizer elements sufficient to produce a 3,000,000 bushel wheat crop. The value of this loss of materials is estimated at $5,000,000.

In 29 cities where there are garbage utilization plants the figures show that a combined population of 18,000,000 people are utilizing these products, in the value of over $11,000,000 annually, and that a large percentage of this saving is being directly used by the government in munition making.

But in these 29 cities, or most of them, large amounts of garbage are destroyed by burning or made useless by being mixed with other wastes.

If in these 29 cities the garbage was "kept clean" or free from bottles, tin cans, crockery and other foreign matter, the saving to the government would be many million dollars more. The responsibility devolves upon the shoulders of the housewife, who is urged to see that nothing but garbage goes into the garbage pail. Other household refuse has a value but its value is lost if refuse and garbage are mixed.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Dr. J. C. Catarrhal Deafness cures the blood on the mucous surface of the ear.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Dr. J. C. Catarrhal Deafness. Circulars free. All Druggists, etc., sell this. J. J. C. Catarrhal Deafness, Toledo, O.

MURDER OF ROMANOFF NO SURPRISE

LONDON EXPECTED VIOLENT
END FOR FORMER RUSSIAN
CZAR—PITY EXPRESSED.

London, July 24.—Recent reports and a recognition that probably the former Emperor would suffer a violent death eliminated the element of surprise in the killing of Nicholas Romanoff which, nonetheless, excites sympathetic references here and has caused some strong denunciation of the perpetrators of the crime.

Nicholas never was a hero in this country, for he had always been regarded as weak and a poor specimen of a sovereign, but it is admitted that he had good intentions which by the tragedy of his weakness he was unable to realize. The news of his death, which in ordinary times would have filled the newspapers and called for the largest type, appears in most papers inconspicuously and with one or two exceptions without editorial notice.

"The assassination of Nicholas," says the Daily Telegraph, "was a cowardly crime, which all the world will condemn—a vile abuse of power by men motivated by the rising consciousness of the people of Russia. His worst fault was instability of mind and lack of moral resolution."

Recalling his inauguration of the Russian peace conference and the establishment of the Duma, the paper says it will be considered on all sides that Russia made no greater advance toward the light in his reign than under any preceding one. The Daily Mail also refers to The Hague conference and the Duma and acquits him of any worse fault than a pitiful weakness. It adds:

"He was a poor little Czar. His life and death alike were pitiful."

and Cry.

Never so completely in her element as when surrounded by mystery and suspense, Mabel Normand is the central figure in another Goldwyn drama said to be a worthy successor to the now celebrated "Hedging a Million." The second production in which Miss Normand is starred by Goldwyn bears the interesting title of "The Floor Below."

An international favorite, known wherever pictures are shown, Mabel Normand enjoys phenomenally good fortune. Every appearance she makes demonstrates afresh her surprising versatility, and her beauty never wanes. Her success in drama is as great as in comedy; tears she evokes as easily as smiles and always she is a unique figure on the screens of the world.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Eckles, daughter, Lury Belle Eckles.

COURTHOUSE WEDDINGS

Judge Champlin officiated at three weddings at the Courthouse yesterday, two white and one colored.

The first white couple to be joined was Vollos P. Adams, aged 19, and Miss Myrtle J. Craft, aged 20, both of the Crofton vicinity.

The second white couple was a little more aged than the first. Mr. Josh Blanchard, of Hopkins county, aged 31, and Miss Sarah A. Cranor, aged 26, of Crofton, were married immediately following the first ceremony and the marriage of the older couple was witnessed by the young couple who signed the marriage record.

REX THEATRE TO-DAY.

In "The Rose of Blood," the Theda Bara Superpicture which William Fox has just completed for release, the recent revolutionary crisis in Russia becomes an important part of the story. Using the same methods of contriving an historical romance which Alexandre Dumas employed, Richard Ordynski, author of the story, has achieved a plot which will take rank beside the filmed versions of the great dramatic of history.
